Housing Wage

2015 Housing Wage: Avon

$22.00

Avon is included in the Hartford-West Hartford-East Hartford Metro Area.

Each year, the National Low Income Housing Coalition calculates the “housing wage,” the hourly wage needed for a household to afford a typical 2-bedroom apartment in metro areas throughout the United States.

Connecticut’s housing costs are typically high, ranking #8 in 2015 with a housing wage of $24.29.

Building Permits

Connecticut saw a sharp decline in building permits following the crash of the housing market in the mid-2000s. As the housing market slowly recovers, statewide building permits have increased by small amounts since 2011, with permits for multifamily units at levels not seen for a decade. Building permits issued, however, remain well below the levels seen in the 1980s and 1990s.

Affordable Housing Appeals List

Each year the CT Department Of Housing surveys municipalities in the state to determine the number of affordable units each has. The data is compiled for the Affordable Housing Appeals List. The following housing units are counted as affordable in Avon in 2014:

Avon’s Housing Data Profile:
The Story Behind the Numbers

Avon, like most of Connecticut’s municipalities, has a high median household income, high housing costs, few units for a variety of the municipality’s workforce (such as, teachers, nurses, electricians, firefighters and town employees), and a narrow range of housing choices for Baby Boomers seeking to downsize and Millennials and young families seeking to move to town.

Housing remains expensive in Avon relative to the median household income. Statewide, 50% of renters and 35% of homeowners spend 30% or more of their household incomes on housing. In Avon, where the $115,571 median household income is higher than the statewide median of $69,461, 34% of renters and 25% of homeowners spend 30% or more of their income on housing.

Avon is one of the 153 Connecticut municipalities that could see a potentially significant decline in school enrollment through 2025 because of a projected decline in school-age (5-19) population of 30% from 2015 to 2025. At the same time, its population is getting older, with a projected increase of 35% in the 65+ population from 2015 to 2025, potentially leading to the need for smaller, denser, more affordable homes closer to the town center, services and, if possible, transit connections.

While the number of renting households in Connecticut has increased from 30% to 34% since 2007, many towns are ill-prepared to accommodate the needs of renters. Avon is one of 114 Connecticut municipalities with single-family homes dominating its housing stock (84%) and little modest or multifamily housing to offer (31% units are 0-2 bedrooms, compared to 42% statewide), mostly because many of those towns built the bulk of their homes after 1970 (70% in Avon) to accommodate the needs of new Baby Boomer families then in their 20s.

Now in their 60s, those families are seeking more modest homes. But their attempts to sell are being met by few offers because few young families can afford to move to those towns, flattening median sales prices and stunting the growth of Grand Lists – the towns’ total value of real property – and thus property tax revenues needed to pay for increasingly expensive services. From 2008 through 2013 (latest OPM figures), 151 towns experienced negative growth in real property values, 1 had no growth and 3 had only slight growth of 2 percent or less. The total real property Grand List in Avon has declined by 3% from 2008 through 2013.

Across the state, 138 of the 169 municipalities have affordable homes totaling less than 10% of their housing stock. These are the kinds of homes increasingly sought by young professionals, families, town workers, downgrading Baby Boomers and others. In Avon, 4% of the homes are affordable, according to the state’s 2014 Affordable Housing Appeals List.
